

Russia - A Mix Of Old And Modern

Over the 8th to the 14th of September 2008, Brian joined an investment delegation on a research trip to Moscow where they were briefed by companies in the natural resource, telecommunications and retail sectors.

A presentation by Highland Gold

A presentation by Lukoil, Russia's largest oil company

Global brands are everywhere - Spot the American company

Red Square – where tanks used to roll past Stalin

GUM (pronounced "goom"), Moscow's "State Department Store" facing Red Square

Rows and rows of Vodka at a Hypermart of the X5 Retail Group

AFI's new office complex and the Mall of Russia development project in Moscow City

St Basil's Cathedral

Brian trying to blend in with the locals